District Board Cuts Estimates To Ease Taxes

The Newmarket-Sutton high school district board has decreased its 1951 budget from $76,000 to $63,000.

Three weeks ago J. L. Spillette, chairman of the finance committee on Newmarket council, requested a budget cut in all departments and school boards. First town estimates showed that the tax rate would be 64 mills. Mr. Spillette said he hoped to get it down to 50.

The high school levy for Newmarket will be $18,087.46 instead of $20,982.09 since the budget has been revised. The other municipalities in the school area have not received their estimated figures from the high school board yet. Since Newmarket asked for a reduction, it will mean a smaller high school levy on the other municipalities as well.

CRACKING DOWN ON ILLEGAL CATCHES OF LAKE SIMCOE PIKE

Two Toronto men were arrested in the Lake Simcoe area for spearing pike early this week. They had between them 150 pounds of great Northern pike, 16 fish, the largest 12 pounds.

Harold Van Wyck, conservation officer, warned that the arrests were part of an all-out drive to prevent illegal fishing. "There have been complaints in recent years about the lack of fish in Lake Simcoe. Here is one of the reasons why," he continued. "These men had 16 fish. The fish are dead and the spawn is lost."

Mr. Van Wyck said that the maximum penalty would be demanded. "We're cracking down on everybody. If we catch people in a car with illegally caught fish, we'll confiscate the car as well as fining its occupants," he warned.

AURORA CHILDREN STRUCK BY CARS ON YONGE STREET

CRITICIZE SALARY SYSTEM

Would Pay Teachers According To Merit

The Newmarket-Sutton high school district board passed a resolution last night recommending a system whereby teachers would be given rewards in salary according to merit and ability. The board passed the resolution so that it could be introduced at the convention of the Associated High School Boards of Ontario this year. The board meeting was held at Newmarket high school last night.

The resolution was prompted by J. L. Smith, Queensville, who said that he couldn't see why salaries could not be determined by a teacher's merit. "Some teachers are better than others," he said. "The way things are now, all teachers are treated alike in payment of salary. It's like a socialism. I think we've got to support our democratic system. After all doctors, lawyers, businessmen and workmen's incomes are governed by their own merit."

Mr. Smith said that his bringing up the subject had nothing to do with teachers on the high school staffs here. "It's just the principle of the thing," he said. A. N. Belugin, chairman of the

DROWNING IN V.L.A. SUBDIVISION SHOCKS COMMUNITY, NO INQUEST HELD

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Harrison, Queen St. E., above, lost their oldest child, Bruce, age three, last Thursday when he was drowned in a water filled excavation. Mr. Harrison is shown, right, at the excavation across the street from their home. The excavation is five feet deep, was dug last fall for a new house in the V.L.A. subdivision. They have two other children. Roy, two is pictured with his parents above. According to Newmarket police, no inquest has been ordered to go over the causes of the accident.

A fence has been erected around an open water-filled excavation on Queen St. E. where a child was drowned last Thursday. According to Newmarket police, no inquest has been ordered.

The excavation is in a new subdivision close to houses built by veterans under the Veterans' Land Act. The excavation was dug last fall for a new house but the construction of the new house was delayed.

During the winter water filled the cellar excavation which was five feet in depth. Children had been in the habit of playing in the area. When spring came this past month the ice in the excavation melted and the water filled the hole level to the surface of the ground.

LIONS REHEARSALS IN SEMI-FINALS, TUNED PIANO TUES.

At the rehearsal for the Newmarket Lions club Minstrel Show last night, Lions had their first work-out on the town hall stage. Bill Greig's 12-piece orchestra accompanied the chorus.

The boys are determined to beat last spring's high water mark. Already one night has been sold out even before the burnt cork has been ordered. The show runs April 17 - 20. According to a reliable authority, it will be a post war setting with "pre-war quality".

Three quarters of last year's end men will be on the job again. Another soloist has been added who with the other soloists, combine in a quartet of southern harmonies: The popular songsters from Queensville, Terry Doan and Murray Huntley, are on again. A new and novel dance number is being rehearsed behind locked doors.

An original southern scene has been painted by Fred Hagan on the backdrop for the set. The piano was tuned on Tuesday and extra seats have been acquired. Lions president Pete Bastedo reminds everyone to get seats reserved as last year the rush ticket line-up started forming up a few minutes after 7 p.m. Lions request that everyone attend Tuesday night, or if not, every night next week.

LOCAL CAMPAIGN TO ASSIST BLIND STARTS APRIL 16

The campaign for the Blind will begin in the Newmarket district on April 16 and will end with a tag day on Saturday, May 5, according to Mrs. J. E. Morris, district C.N.I.B. chairman. "All workers are voluntary and the entire proceeds will be used to support the service program carried on by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind," she said.

"Two years ago we were bothered by agents coming into town, canvassing over the telephone for the sale of goods supposedly made by the blind. Somehow they succeeded in giving the impression that they represented the C.N.I.B. "I would like the citizens to know that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind does not solicit the sale of its products by telephone or house-to-house canvassing. Goods produced by blind Canadians in the C.N.I.B. workshop are sold only through ordinary channels of trade. On every article is stamped their trademark, "Blindcraft," said Mrs. Morris.

25 CASES WHISKEY STOLEN AT SUTTON IN SECOND ROBBERY

Twenty-five cases of liquor were stolen from the L.C.B.O. store in Sutton early Tuesday morning. The theft was believed to have been made between 3 a.m. and 9 a.m.

Jim Smith, manager of the store on Sutton's Main St. said that most of the liquor stolen was whiskey. Although he did not state the value of the loot it is estimated that it was near $2,000.

Entrance was made into the store by cutting a bar in the front window and forcing the lock. A hack saw was believed to have been used. When they gained entrance, the thieves opened the back door and took the liquor out to a car or truck. It is the second time the liquor store has been robbed in a year. Chief Constable Stan James of Sutton is investigating.

Town Costs Soar See Heavy Raise Coming In Mill Rate

A substantial increase in the Newmarket tax rate can be expected when the rate is struck at the next council meeting on Monday night. When all budget estimates were in a few weeks ago, they amounted to an increase of 22 mills.

Since that time, the finance committee, under the chairmanship of Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette, has been going over the estimates, paring back costs wherever possible.

An increase of eight mills is indicated by school costs and the county levy with the balance made up by town costs. Biggest single factor in the anticipated increase is salaries, both for schools and in the town.

Mayor Joseph Vale pointed out that school teachers were the last to receive increases in salary, and that the increases being budgeted for now are the same increases which have been paid much earlier in other professions and trades.

Both the public school and high school boards have revised their original estimates, reducing them in each case. The county levy is beyond the council's jurisdiction. The remaining savings must be made up from town estimates.

The mill rate last year was 44.

Aurora Tax Rate Shows 8-Mill Increase To 58 Reflects Rising Costs

Era And Express Second Section Tells Of Queen's Yorks History

This week's issue of The Era and Express contains a second section supplement devoted to C Squadron of the Queen's York Rangers. C Squadron represents Canada's reserve army in this district and more people are realizing the importance of the reserve army as an insurance in the defence of the country.

Should there be a national emergency the reservists will be the backbone and framework for defence on a home front. Military police work and actual defence of the country may someday be the job of the reserve army. The Queen's York Rangers themselves are subject to mobilization in case of war.

This year a complete renovation has been done at the Aurora Armories. A new armor plate floor has been built so that tank

The new rate represents a picture of general increase in the cost of administration with the public schools showing the biggest single increase in cost, approximately three mills.

A Great Force For Human Good

By J. E. STRUTHERS

When there is a tragedy and you are close to it, questions come to your mind . . . if only this had been done . . . if someone had done this or that earlier, it never would have happened. But it is too late to think of such things. A young life is gone.

When I reached the place where Bruce Harrison drowned last Thursday morning, I thought of those things.

I saw the two doctors working with their hands and hearts on a delicate balance, striving to weigh that balance in life's favor. I forgot the "if only's".

The few in that house must have felt as I did, that being helpless with our hands, we could only set our minds to influence that balance. I concentrated on something I shall never explain, a belief that if I could summon up some other energy . . . you may call it a spiritual power . . . it might be enough to tip that balance.

It was then that I decided that the human element or weakness that may have caused that tragedy was small compared to the great human strength that grew from it. That is the only satisfaction.

I was there as a reporter. I had to do certain tasks. I had to report for the paper what had happened. But this was mechanical work, the work of habit. My real self was working and hoping for something that never came, the balance that was never tipped.

I think that the doctors, the firemen, the neighbors and friends, and the reporter were really as one mind with the parents in a supreme effort. There is some peace in the knowledge that there was a power there for a great human good, and the parents will not be alone in their memories.

Easter week, in spite of the weather, seems to have been enjoyed by both young and old.
The weather on Good Friday, Saturday and Easter Day wasn't exactly what we had hoped for, but the children didn't seem to let the weather undermine their enjoyment of the week of Easter holidays.

The old saying about when school closes, mother's holidays are over, could well apply to this Easter holiday for the mud was terrific and I don't doubt many mothers spent the week trying to keep their floors and the children's clothes clean. Well, so long as they keep their health, mothers will not object too strenuously.

One after another of our citizens who spent holidays down in the sunny south are returning and the mud and continued rains must have dampened their ardor somewhat. But I want to say how well the manager of the "Roxy" theatre did his part towards helping the children enjoy their holiday by putting on an "all cartoon" show. Then on Easter Monday, there was a matinee specially for children, but just as interesting to grown-ups as well—a Walt Disney presentation of Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island; and also on the same program that lovable "Beaver Valley", also in technicolor, portraying nature's wild life in mountain, swamp and forest—all true to nature. It was on for three nights and I hope a good many of you saw it for I can't begin to describe it. How I wish I could!

It was called "Beaver Valley" for the beavers formed a large part of the picture—and how delightfully interesting they were and such a splendid picture for children, though no doubt grown-ups could appreciate it more.
"Marvelous" seems to be the only adjective to describe it, for you certainly marvel at how those pictures of wild life could possibly have been secured. To hear the authentic sound of the beaver's flat, scaly tail smacking the water to sound the alarm, to hear the mating song of the frogs—oh they were comical—their throat looked as if they had swallowed a full-blown balloon.

They were the most amazing pictures, no wonder we marvel as to how they were acquired! The mother duck teaching the young ducks to swim—they seemed to partly swim and partly to fly as they went skimming over the surface of the lake. The pictures of the beaver were so interesting. One young beaver, especially, who decided he was old enough to be on his own, so he started off and we followed him.
He falls in love and finds himself married to a widow with a young son—however, he sets to work to build his house for his newly acquired family. First he builds his beaver dam and we watched with breathless interest as he skillfully cuts down trees and floats them to his dam and engineers them to the exact spot he has chosen for each one, plastering them with mud and using his funny flat tail for a trowel.
The picture shows how a coyote chases him, when he got too far from the water. But he escaped and dived down under his beaver dam to safety. The others, too, give him considerable trouble as winter draws near and the picture shows the others like a bunch of school boys sliding down hill where there was a whiff of snow to make it slippery, sliding down on their tummies! You could almost hear them laugh they were enjoying themselves so much! There were owls and other birds—all kinds of animals, even elk. Oh I'd like to see that picture again! The scenery was something wonderful.

OTTAWA LETTER

by
"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

Ottawa is accustomed to receiving distinguished visitors, but the visit here this week of President Vincent Auriol of France was an event which stood out as a memorable occasion in the life of the Canadian capital.

There was a genuine warmth throughout the whole proceedings which made it different from the mere formalities of official welcomes. The president was accorded every official honor, but as well he received a heart-warming reception from the people. Addressing the members of the House of Commons and the senate the distinguished visitor delivered a history-making and impressive speech which was received with continuous rounds of applause.

Interesting extracts from that historic address follow: "My heart is deeply touched with emotion," said the president and his every gesture was evidence of his sincerity. "I realize the full significance for France of the warmth of your greetings, the acclamations of your people, the supreme honor you have done us in officially welcoming us in the imposing edifice of your parliament and, finally, of the eloquence of the words just spoken."

"I am fully aware of the value of this symbol: the president of the French Republic bringing to Canada the affectionate message of France on this very hill at the boundary of the province of Ontario and Quebec, the meeting place of forces, young and eager, English and French, the union of which has created your nation, which increases in strength and grandeur every day and constitutes an immense human treasure for the future."

"Sons of the British Isles, sons of France, what a magnificent example is given to the world, what a long path travelled together!
"Great Britain and France—how long we struggled and fought. But in those hard and often long battles there never appeared the slightest divergence in our conceptions of life, in our forms of civilization. The reconciliation has been complete, and together we may admire today this vigorous Canadian nation which is the expression, diversified but united, of the genius of the two races."

"Two Ancient Peoples"
"The meeting of our spirits has begotten your spirit. And this spirit, illuminated with idealism, guides you toward a magnificent future. The two ancient peoples, their rivalries forgotten, are proud to recognize something of themselves in your common fidelity, and to find themselves rejuvenated and more closely united by your extraordinary ascent."

"And now, gentlemen, I take this occasion to tell you that at this very hour the whole of France joins with you and with me in paying homage to the sacred memory of thousands of Canadians who, in the course of two world wars, fought and fell for the liberty of the world, and to their families and to their surviving comrades I bring our affectionate thought and grateful sympathy."

"At Vimy, where a memorial reminds us of their legendary heroism at Tilly, at Dieppe, at Bretteville-sur-Laize, at Bony-sur-Mer and in so many other places which speak of their courage, France, whose heart beat faster when she saw them parade through her towns, now tenderly watches over their eternal rest."

"Finally, to the people of Canada I express the enduring friendship of France, our gratitude for all they have done for our liberation, and also for that inexhaustible generosity which, under the impetus of national and private organizations, have been lavish in their help to relieve the misery of our people exhausted by war and a long and awful oppression."

"In this world which becomes every day smaller and smaller, and where the interdependence of nations is a fact, you have understood that our destinies are just the same and that there is not a man, whether in the midst of storm the calm of peace, several conceptions for virtue and honor."

"Of this vital solidarity I never heard a more concise definition than that which I heard on the radio in a small mountain chalet where I had taken refuge after my confinement in prison, when I fled from the oppressor before my departure for London.
"World prosperity, like security, is indivisible." They were the words of Mackenzie King. They must always be our common moto, France knows
"France, being the first country on the road of invasions and battles, knows perhaps better than anyone that security is indivisible. If she had remained alone during the war she would have definitely succumbed. And with France enslaved, all Europe would have lost everything, even hope. If our old civilization were to disappear from Europe one day, what would become of the rest of the continents of the world in the face of an erupting Asia?

"No nation, therefore, has the right to leave to chance the security of its smallest parcel of its security, its dignity or pride". Every nation has the duty to preserve the liberty of man against all those who would or could attempt, from their own autocratic will, to impose their fanatical ideology and thus unleash the most frightful of wars. Canada has understood this, for twice she has already given men, material and resources, an enormous and sacrificial contribution, to the victory of right and liberty."

"Thus your determination has foiled the efforts of an enemy who hoped that, being far from Europe, you would not take any part in the conflict."

"Certainly, Great Britain could rely on your traditional loyalty, honor and courage. Certainly, France could say she knew you were faithful to the motto of Quebec, 'Je me souviens'.
"But the real truth is that the highest ideal inspired your action. You knew that liberty has no frontiers; that if anywhere in the world the light is extinguished, then the rest of the world is darker. You want to sustain the light and preserve for the nations the proud right to live in freedom and to flourish."

"Thus you encounter France, because she has already experienced the horrors of war on her own soil, the sorrow of ruins; because he knows what it is to endure, though temporarily, the oppression of foreign enslavement; because she experienced the mortal peril of solitude in front of aggression she thought, like you, that our forces must be united in proper time for the founding of peace. With you, with Great Britain, with the United States, we had hoped that the charter of the United Nations, signed by all, would assure the protection of every nation by the organization of collective security, as well as the happiness of mankind by the co-operation of nations."

Not Been Able to Act
"But the spirit of intolerance and the will to dominate has not permitted the materialization of this great hope. And the United Nations, partially paralyzed, have not been able to save countries from losing their independence again or men their liberty."

Once again, one after another as before the last war, the free democracies have been smothered. Vast countries are closed and hostile to the rest of the world. Violence has reappeared, is menacing, and even strikes.
And so the great democracies enjoying civil liberties had to organize into regional defence pacts.
It was with great relief that we greeted the conclusion of the pact among the countries of the North Atlantic Ocean, due in great part to the clairvoyant initiative of Canadian statesmen.
This pact which, ratified by the unanimous vote of your parliament, has established a powerful bond between Europe and America, a bond among the peoples united by the same civilization and by the same desire and anxiety to protect and defend it."

"If the aggressors of 1914 and 1939 had known that France was not alone, that Europe was not alone, they would have retreated from the criminal folly of their enterprise. History is the witness: solidarity in defense is a token of peace."

"France wants neither war nor servitude. Her sole aim is peace in justice and freedom. It is common defense, but also for common prosperity, that France strives to create a united Europe, to build a young and coherent federation."

"France is thus faithful to her traditions and the ideal of our common civilization."

Momentarily exhausted by the wounds she has received while the world was unorganized, she always knows that it is in the exaltation of the spirit that great things, the proud cathedrals and lofty monuments of right, are wrought."

ECONOMY RUN

GRUELLING 840-MILE COMPETITION

Proves what owners say about
FORD ECONOMY

Everywhere in Canada, owners of the new Ford V-8 are enthusiastically reporting exceptional savings on gasoline. Now, in the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run, traditional Ford economy has been proved in open competition. There is no tougher test than this gruelling 840-mile grind. Competing against all cars in its price field, the new Ford equipped with Overdrive took first place in Class "A".

Why not prove Ford economy for yourself? See your Ford Dealer and "Test-Drive" the Economy Winner! There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better."

The Famous Ford V-8 100 Hp. Engine
... owner-proved ... road-proved
... tops in economy in its class!

The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ten-mile per-gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ten-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

FORD OVERDRIVE... optional at extra cost... pays for itself in gas savings. It lets the engine "loaf" while the car hustles! Gives you smoother, quieter performance... and reduces engine wear.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

As we have remarked in these columns before, we like to fish, we want to fish, but we never catch any fish. So when we were invited on an expedition after smelts, we liked the idea but we started off without much hope.

On the way to Georgian Bay, our companions assured us that there was nothing to catching smelts. In fact, any fool with a net and a bushel basket can catch enough in an hour or two to stock an apartment house. We were greatly reassured by all this and began to have hope that at last the jinx was broken.

Our friends neglected to add to this essay in catching smelts that it is necessary first that the smelts be running. We got to the Bay around ten on Friday evening and spent the next eight hours or so chasing into every creek as far north as Honey Harbor. Nary a smelt did we see. They weren't running. "Naw," says an old-timer, "they won't be running for another week."

Well, we thought, there are still the suckers. Surely we have a chance with the suckers. Sunday morning, the bridge at the Landing was lined with sucker-hunters. We had been told of a little creek upstream a bit where the suckers were plentiful.

We looked over the creek Sunday morning. Nothing doing. "Can't have reached there yet," we thought. Sunday afternoon, we paid another visit. Still nothing doing. Then we bumped into a friend who told us that the "boys" had been hauling suckers out of the creek at a great rate at mid-day.

Well, what are you going to do about a situation like that? We ended the day trying to fly a kite we had promised the children for the last month. Couldn't even get the kite up. Tail was too heavy or something.

But despite the disappointment of the lack of fish, the weather was lovely. We lazed away most of Saturday on the front porch of a cottage overlooking Georgian Bay. There were still reefs of ice but they were rapidly breaking apart under the heat of the sun.

There were several cottagers up, inspecting the damage of the weather and beginning the spring house-cleaning. Somebody spotted three deer down on the beach the day before, and shortly before we left, a flight of Canada geese came over in a lazy formation and settled into the bay a half mile offshore.

It has been a dull winter, an enervating season. Spring has been hesitant, promising a little and then retreating behind the curtain of a squall from the west. But one weekend like the last melts the winter's iron from your bones and life becomes worthwhile again. We found violets well into growth down in the bush. Get the graters on the roads and we'll know at last winter is behind us for another year.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

APRIL 9, 1926

Miss Leonora Starr is taking part in the "Night in Honolulu" being presented by Ben Hokea in Massey Hall this Thursday evening.

Because of the stormy weather the market last Saturday was rather small. Butter sold from 45 to 48 cents and eggs from 30 to 32 cents. Potatoes were from $3. to $3.25 a bag and good apples for 35 cents a basket.

H. E. Gilroy, a Newmarket boy, who was employed at Mr. Dunlop's store in town for some time, has purchased the stock of ladies' and men's furnishings from the Dunlop branch at Aurora and will conduct the business in future under his own name.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waller, Bradford, have bought a 50-acre farm near Sharon, and will move there shortly.

Mr. R. Henderson of the Royal bank staff at Schomberg has been transferred to the Mimico branch.

Two hundred and fifty attended the third annual at home of the Newmarket lawn bowling club in the Oddfellow's hall on Easter Monday night. Prize-winners in euchre were Mrs. Dolan, John McCaffrey and Dr. VanderVoort. Dancing to the Westmax orchestra was enjoyed and the lucky dance was won by Miss R. K. Doyle and Elton Armstrong. At intermission a buffet luncheon was served.

During 1926 there were 12 weeks of continuous sleighing. On Tuesday afternoon the W.M.S. of the Wesley and Knox United churches, Sutton West, held a joint meeting in Knox hall for the purpose of amalgamating the two societies. Officers elected were: pres., Mrs. Aaron Hailton; vice pres., Mrs. H. Thompson; rec. sec., Mrs. Walker Holborn; cor. sec., Mrs. F. Gilroy; treas., Miss Sadie Pringle.

Mrs. Millar and daughter, Lillian, Spokane, Wash., have been staying in town with their cousin, Mrs. Elisha Mann for the past week.

Mr. Colson Cameron will be the new storekeeper at Ravenshoe.

APRIL 12, 1901

Mr. A. E. Coombs, principal of the high school, and Mr. A. B. Davidson, public school inspector, are attending the Ontario library association meeting in Toronto this week.

Fairey Lake was clear of all ice on Wednesday morning.

Dr. F. R. Spratt, Barrie, has rented the premises just vacated by Dentist Terry. The doctor is an honor graduate of Toronto University and a member of the College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario.

Messrs. F. C. S. Knowles, Wm. Rennie and Joseph Hughes are the census enumerators for Newmarket.

Mr. J. E. Montgomery, who is leaving town to accept a position in Sault Ste. Marie, was presented with a suitcase by a number of friends at the Central hotel last Monday evening.

Although the weather and roads were bad, the market last Saturday was exceptionally good. Eggs sold from 11 to 13 cents, and butter from 16 to 18 cents. Turkeys increased to 15 cents a lb., and chickens sold from 40 to 60 cents. New maple syrup sold at $1. new measure and $1.25, imperial gallon. Grated horseradish was 15 cents a jar.

Mr. Douglas C. Hunter is visiting friends in Athens, a guest of Dr. S. S. Cornell.

Suckers are very plentiful. On Tuesday one of the Turan boys caught 650.

A team of "crackshots" from Kettleby and King beat the Aurora team by 54 points on Good Friday. The winners were E. Colman, J. and L. Hollingshead, R. Rank, J. Ramsden and R. Wilson.

Several flocks of wild geese passed over town on Saturday night.

Frost caused a leak in the water mains at the corner of Queen and Main Streets and it was with great difficulty that Engineer O'Halloran had it repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gardner celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday.

Those home from Toronto for Easter were Norman Rogers, Angus McCrimmon, Will Mosler, Bert Cane, Garnet Grandy and Tim Wesley.

THURSDAY, THE TWELFTH DAY OF APRIL, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-ONE

SHOULD BE INQUEST

The death of three-year-old Bruce Harrison on Thursday was a tragic accident. The whole community shares the sorrow of the parents.

It is a painful undertaking to examine all the circumstances which are involved in the death, but we believe if an inquest were held, it would materially assist in making sure such an accident would not happen again.

There has been considerable general criticism. This is understandable, but what criticism we have heard has been made without a full appreciation of all the circumstances involved. At the same time, it is not enough to class the accident as "unavoidable". We do not believe there is such a condition as an unavoidable accident. Somewhere there is a flaw, human or material, and if that flaw can be searched out, then steps can be taken to eliminate it.

We are not concerned with attaching blame. What has happened cannot be recalled. But there are countless other excavations in this area, and there will continue to be as the area develops. We know steps have been taken, as a result of the accident, to prevent its repetition elsewhere. But men's memories are short. There must be some official recognition that such accidents can happen, and the means to prevent them embodied in legislation. An inquest would help accomplish this purpose.

QUEEN'S YORK RANGERS

In this week's issue of The Era and Express is published the history of the county regiment, the Queen's York Rangers (1st American Regiment) (25 Armored Regiment). The history is part of a special feature prepared by this paper to mark the reopening on Friday of the Aurora Armouries, home of "C" Squadron of the regiment.

The Queen's York Rangers has a proud history. It dates from 1755 when Rogers Rangers were raised to protect the settlements of New England from the raids of the French and Indians. In those days the men of the regiment were armed with smooth bore guns firing buckshot. Today, they are armed with Sherman tanks.

The history of the regiment is inseparably intertwined with the history of New England and Upper Canada. The one tells the story of the other, and the regimental crest, in a very real sense, tells the story of both with its motto: "Remembering Their Gallantry in Former Days".

The regiment is now a reserve unit and its officers and men receive their training twice a week in the evenings and at summer camp. It is a considerable sacrifice to ask of these part-time soldiers, that they give so much of their time and their energy, but their purpose is very real for it is upon them that the defence of Canada will rest should there be war.

There is a very real chance that they may never have to use their training on a battlefield. The men of the regiment, no less than the rest of Canada, hope that. But while the possibility exists, the Queen's York Rangers are making every effort to prepare themselves to meet it. They, and others like them, deserve the respect and the support of the country.

APRIL RAINS

Not all the April moisture falls from the skies. A goodly portion of it drops from the brows of worried councillors as they sweat over rising tax rates. The April showers bring forth May flowers, but all the April budgets do is to bring forth phone calls from outraged taxpayers who want to know why the tax rate keeps going up and up.

No council willingly announces an increase in the tax rate but there isn't really anything to be done about it. The price of everything else is going up and it is unreasonable to expect tax rates to be the exception. If anything, the danger lies in too close a pruning of operating costs. The physical depreciation of roads and sidewalks, municipal buildings and equipment, continues and if maintenance is not kept up, the ultimate cost of replacement is many times the amounts needed year by year for repairs.

FRANKEST COMMENT YET

About the most appropriate comment we have noted on amalgamation comes from Mr. R. M. W. Chitty, vice president of the Property Owners' Association of Toronto, as reported in Tuesday's Globe and Mail. Mr. Chitty spoke on certain aspects of the amalgamation issue but on the question of whether his association favored amalgamation, he said:

"We are not prepared to say whether we oppose or support amalgamation because frankly, we do not know what it means, and neither does anyone else," Mr. Chitty should be given some sort of a medal to commemorate this frankness.

We suppose Mr. Chitty's remark might be applied to this paper. We don't pretend to know all the circumstances of amalgamation, but we do know that for the taxpayer in north York county, amalgamation would mean increased county taxes unless the government compensated the northern municipalities for the loss of county revenue, and we do know, on the evidence of the large cities in the United States, that the big city is obsolete.

A study of municipal costs in Toronto itself bears out this contention. The cost per capita of operating Toronto is far higher than the costs of the suburban municipalities, and because the big-city administration is so far away from the people, it is not nearly as efficient as that of the smaller municipalities. And too, the larger the city, the more inviting it is to air attack, and to the growth of social evils.

The whole conception of amalgamation is, to our mind, false. The province is considering how the city can be enlarged on the theory that the larger it is, the more cheaply it can be run. How wrong that is can be shown in the history of other large cities. Instead of concerning themselves with growth, the municipal board, the planning boards and all the other agencies should be concerned with how to reduce the city, how best to decentralize its industry and its population.

AN END TO SUBSIDIES

There is something to be said for the payment of $65 million to the wheat growers in western Canada: privately and publicly, members of the government have asserted that never again will they support subsidy payments to special groups. The insistence of the agriculture minister that the payment be made has aroused considerable resentment in Ottawa, and the history of the deal which resulted in the payment offers an obvious commentary on the evils of attempts to artificially set prices for world markets. This example can, with very little effort, be applied to domestic markets as well, as more than one member of parliament has been quick to point out.

COSTLY LESSON

(The Rural Scene)

Since the time of Joseph in Egypt no man has been able to forecast the wheat market years in advance. Yet that is what the farmers of the Anglo-Canadian Wheat Agreement undertook to do.

They expected the price of wheat to fall after the war, as it had fallen after World War I; and they thought it would be a shrewd move to sell a large part of the next four crops in advance. So they entered into a contract to sell Britain 160 million bushels a year for the next four years.

The price was to be $1.55 to the Canadian farmers for the first and second years. Prices for the third and fourth years were to be negotiated later; but under no circumstances were they to be less than $1.25 for the third year and $1.00 for the fourth.

But instead of going down, as the negotiators expected; world wheat prices went up, with the result that prices under the agreement for the third and fourth years were negotiated at $2.00 a bushel.

Prices on the world market, however, continued higher than the contract prices and over the entire period the Canadian Wheat Board realized higher prices for the wheat it sold outside the contract than for what it sold to Britain.

Canadian farmers feel that if all their wheat had been sold on the open market somewhere between 100 million and 600 million dollars more than they did.

They feel that they are being lashed with the entire loss on a gamble in which they had neither choice nor voice, and they are asking the Canadian government to compensate them for such losses.

The government is offering them 65 million dollars as settlement in full. As there is no way of determining what the losses really amount to, this paper feels that the farmer should accept the offer and see to it that the incident is not repeated.

If, as a result of this experience, the western farmer can get rid of wheat pool domination, and regain the right to sell their grain on the open market, the experience, though costly, will be well worthwhile.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

I have received a letter from Lottie, the cat in London who reports about the census in Britain. For the first time in 20 years, they are having a census in the old country. (Editor's note: Ginger says that in the U.K., a "census" is a "census" and that he is trying to retain the authentic flavor).

"The government," writes Lottie, "has brought out a form two feet long and 18 inches wide to collect census data on every individual."

"It is a good form, made of strong bond paper and it will prove useful in wrapping small quantities of potato peelings. With the food situation as it is over here, it seems such a terrible shame to use full size newspaper pages for garbage wrapping because we don't have that much garbage anymore."

"There has been considerable controversy over here about what London newspaper is best for wrapping garbage. I think that after this new government form is brought out, the issue over the London dailies will have completely blown over."

In addition to Lottie's commentary on the census, a clipping was enclosed out of one London newspaper, written by Baron Henley Bitters-Sippins, well known British House of Commons correspondent, noted sportsman and reviver of the ancient British sport of hostile jousting.

Bitters-Sippins comments on the recent actions of General MacArthur in connection with the Korean war. "The Britisher's typical comment to the last verbal tangential spree by this U.S. general was 'He (MacArthur) rides again'."

Now the general opinion here is that the general should be fired. I don't know how the Americans go about doing things like that but it is a simple matter over here. "Frankly, I think that the Americans see to many wild west movies. The American hero of the wild west has been so established in the American mind that even their generals are 'riding again'. Things in America are different though. I think I can recall the president being dressed up like a cowboy once. As a matter of fact, I think he was alleged to have shouted Yipee-aye-oh-kaye-aye or something of that sort.

"Perhaps firing the general will be more difficult for the Americans than it would appear to us on the surface," said Bitters-Sippins.

Lottie the cat says that book-keeping figures are rising higher and higher for the Festival of Britain. I understand that booking is legal over there so it doesn't matter if this fact is mentioned in my column.

Speaking of the Festival of Britain, Slim Bliggins was in the office yesterday and said that he plans to make a trip to the Festival this summer. He is taking some of his paintings and a collection of the prehistoric bones of the Cro-magnon man he collected in the caves of France.

"Well, that should be interesting for you because the ladies of the Cuttin Corners Handicraft and Hook Your Rug at Home society are sending delegates over to represent Canada in the commonwealth handicraft display. You may even sail on the same boat with them," we commented.

But Slim was not enthused. "Well I have another secret reason for going over to the old country," said Slim. "My festival exhibits are merely a host-essible reason for going."

"What is this secret reason for a trip to the U.K.?" I asked.

Slim looked over his shoulder, upped over to shut the door and whispered, "I'm paid over for one of the women's magazines and to a round-up and commentary of life in England. Everybody's busy in two weeks in Europe and you're a reliable source, as they say. And if I can come back and predict whether there is going to be a war or not I'll be a famous columnist."

Slim is right I guess. Everybody's doing it and anybody can be an authority in the world situation, except generals.

by "Dairy Farmer" The Top Six Inches

It always amazes us how certain catch phrases become popular. We seem to like the sound of them and the idea behind them becomes fascinating. Contour plowing is a very nice sounding phrase even if most of us never have done it or tried it. So is mow drying of hay and automatic barn cleaners. (as if there was anything automatic about cleaning. The only thing that is automatic is the manure).

But the grand-daddy of them all is the loafing barn. We always suspected that the fascination this expression has for the average farmer is much more connected with the word "loafing" than the word "barn". If we wanted to disillusion you right at the start, we should begin by saying that the word "loafing" refers to the cattle and not the farmer. This should clear up some of the misunderstanding. It might also help to put any discussion concerning this idea on a more sober basis.

Well, let us be fair about it and see the case for and against the loafing barn. Its advocates claim of course that it is less investment in building cost, healthier for the cows and less work for the operator. It will also result, according to them, in cleaner and more sanitary handling of milk.

These claims are reasonable. Considering the cost of steel and cement these days anything is cheaper than the standard stanchion tie barn. We will admit freely that tying a cow up from November to May comes pretty close to being cruel. The average barn today has too little room for the individual stall. The platforms are too short. They are short because this supposedly will encourage the cows to use the gutter and secondly because the average cow in any breed is bigger today than it was 15-20 years ago. As far as the cow's health is concerned, we are ready and willing to believe that there is more protection for udders in just about any other system than the stanchion. It is surprising why there isn't more mastitis than there is — and there is too much of it.

Yet, in spite of all this, we would hesitate to tear out the steel and cement in our barn and turn over a new leaf. First, because we haven't seen a loafing barn in operation anywhere but in magazines. Secondly, because what we have is here and in spite of all its faults, it does work if enough care is taken.

What we would like to see, is an open shed on each farm where the dry cows and heifers could stay the year round — that and a well protected yard where we could turn our cows out each day and maybe feed their hay there.

Farming is necessarily a business where any change has to be made slowly. It is one of its weaknesses. Our capital investment is too heavy as it is in relation to the amount of business we do. Our returns are too small and the price system is too uncertain to allow sudden changes.

And yet, we must admit that we are also fascinated by the words loafing barn. Whether it is the sound of it or the idea of it we don't know. Maybe it is attractive to us because it implies a departure from the routine where we could do just a bit of loafing. It would be nice to milk cows differently for a change. We hope somebody will try it soon, so we can have a good look at it.

Road conditions at Lake Wilcox district grew steadily worse with Monday night's rain. Bud Ham, driver of a Cousin's Dairy truck, said his truck broke down, delaying delivery points east for nearly two hours. Langdon's school bus transporting children to Oak Ridges school, goes as far as Woolley's store, the children walking in from nearby points. Mr. Geo. Gourlay parks his car at Hart's store and he and his wife walk to their home. The north lake road was gravelled in spots but failed to hold as frost came out of the roadbed.

Wednesday, July 11, has been a busy day for the Bunn family. Sister of Mr. Eric Bunn, Oak Ridges, leaves today (Thursday) for a two months' visit to England, her birthplace. She will sail from New York harbor. Miss Bunn is the last of her family to make a voyage to the Old Country, the others having enjoyed various visits to aunts and uncles there. An employee of Scanlon's Bakery, Aurora, for 20 years, she left her position early this week to make final preparations for the journey.

OBITUARY
Ernest Streeter
Mr. Ernest Streeter, 87, clockmaker, who might well be termed "father" of Petworth tradesmen, died at his home Clock House, Petworth, West Sussex, England, on Sunday. He was a brother of Edward Frank Streeter, Newmarket.
Though he had become bodily feeble of late years his mind remained active to the last, and he retained the greatest interest in the life of the town where he had spent so much of his life.
He was born at Wisborough
Green, the son of the late Mr.
John Streeter, a noted clockmaker, who cleaned his last watch on his 81st birthday.
After four years' apprenticeship to engineering, he returned home when he was 20 to help in the family business. He started as a clockmaker in Petworth in 1888 and his first public job there was to reconstruct the Parish church clock, the winding of which he continued to see to until the demolition of the spire put it out of action.
He was chairman of Petworth football club, president and chairman of the town band, a member of the old original nigger minstrel troupe, an Oddfellow, member of the R.A.O.B., member of Petworth Park Lawn tennis club, founder-member of the bowling club and founder-member and chairman of the tradesmen's club. He served on the parish council for many years.
He was a recognized authority on antiques and old coins, and was very proud of the fact that Queen Mary, while King George V was convalescing at Bognor, visited his shop and made purchases. His collections of butterflies and moths, old coins and trade tokens were known far and wide.
In 1944 Mr. and Mrs. Streeter celebrated their golden wedding.
For the last few years the business has been run by his second daughter, Miss Peggy Streeter, and has borne the somewhat unusual trade name of "E.
Streeter and Daughter." His widow and three daughters survive him.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

A copy of "The Newmarket Era" for October 29, 1880, was passed along to us a short time ago. This issue which has seen its "three score years and ten" was among the papers collected by the Newmarket Scouts and Cubs in their recent salvage collection in Sharon. It bears the subscriber's name, Wm. Ostley, and is in very good condition.

The Era at that time was advertised as a steam printing establishment. The paper which carried the full title of "The Newmarket Era and North York Intelligencer and Advertiser" was issued each Friday. Its editor, publisher and proprietor was Erasmus Jackson.

Apart from a few items of local interest and the advertising, the majority of news coverage is concerned with national and international matters, a policy which was generally practised by weeklies until the last quarter of a century. There are columns from Washington and Ottawa in this 1880 Era. There are reprints from Montreal, Toronto and Victoria newspapers. A weekly newspaper today is more concerned with presenting an accurate reflection of the immediate community than in providing coverage for world news.

Even "the good old days" do not live up to their reputation in this 1880 issue of The Era, for in it we read the following account: "A sneak entered a house in St. Catharines on Tuesday and stole a pocket-book containing $10 while the inmates were attending on a member of the family who was dying."

"That tramp—One evening last week, a young man with a black moustache called at a farm house on the townline. He said he was a harness maker, that he had had the ague all summer and as a natural consequence was reduced in funds. He asked for lodgings for the night, informing the folk that he intended to pursue his journey to Alliston in the morning, where his tools were. He partook of the hospitality of the farm house and rising early on the following morning, he showed his gratitude by carrying off a heavy brown overcoat."

Other stories tell of the recovery of a livery rig which had been stolen the previous week from Hy Hulse; of the possible establishment of a commission to investigate "the affairs and morals of the Northwest mounted police"; of the stealing of the cash box containing the proceeds of the tickets taken in at the gate at the annual show of the Aurora Agricultural Society; of a murder, an unjust imprisonment and several other acts of violence.

Among the more pleasant events recorded was the presentation of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in Newmarket by the Schomberg Dramatic club. The club had previously presented this play to packed houses in both Aurora and Schomberg.

An embossed and elaborate address was presented to Father Harris from the trustees of the separate school during that week of October 29 1880. For it was at the beginning of the scholastic year that Father Harris had handed over to the trustees a school house, joining the Roman Catholic church. The trustees whose names were recorded on this address are Eli Spencer, Thos. Dolan, Geo. Haskett, Jas. Barry, Michael Mulcahy and John Cain.

The problem of late copy which present-day editors and the inaccuracies of the city's daily papers which continually harrass reporters and exasperate local townpeople had their counterpart in this old Era. In reporting on the successful show which the King Township Agricultural Society held the editor notes "We did expect to receive the prize list in time for publication this week, but have been disappointed."

"Not posted—The Toronto Evening World of Friday last says: 'Newmarket is likely to be incorporated as a town, and a proposition to that end will be submitted to the electors.' Our column is 'not posted' in this matter. The preliminaries for incorporation have already been completed and the official proclamation by the lieutenant governor issued as the law directs. Next January election will take place as a town—not a village; and the 'proposition' to be submitted to the electors will have reference to officials for next year, instead of the question of incorporation."

W.A. HEARS TALK ON RACIAL PREJUDICE

The Woman's Association of Kettleby United church met at the home of Mrs. Jack Maginn Tuesday evening, April 3, with the president, Mrs. L. V. Heacock, presiding, assisted in the worship period by Mrs. A. Marshall, Betty Webster and Mrs. Bert Wood. A committee was appointed to try and secure a play for May 24 and further inquiries are to be made regarding church floor covering.

Mrs. D. Ray had the topic for the evening and brought as her guest Mrs. Weinzwieg. Together they presented an interesting and lively discussion on racial prejudice. Mrs. Ray said "As a Christian group, we should be interested in this problem and ready to do our bit to overcome it. Mrs. Weinzwieg feels that it is a social prejudice rather than a religious one. If the Jew or other nationalities that are in our cities appear to be clannish it is not because they wish it so especially but because they are forced through restricted housing, etc., to one particular district and even the type of job or profession is limited. A Jew is not acceptable in our banks or in insurance companies except perhaps as salesman.

They are not wanted as engineers or chemists. They go largely into clothing businesses or become doctors or lawyers, working largely among their own people.

The question was asked, Why did the Jew and others come to Canada in the first place? Mrs. Weinzwieg replied that in Poland, where they came from, post-war were up all over telling how wonderful Canada was and what opportunities could be had. The government was encouraging immigration because roads needed to be built, new land opened up or perhaps railroads put through and the down-trodden people of Europe jumped at the chance of the promised security. A Jew in Poland was not allowed to own any property and their living had to be made amongst their own people—buying, selling or trading all within a restricted area.

She said the Ontario government had now passed a law forbidding racial prejudice in employment. She felt it was a good step in the right direction.

Mrs. Heacock thanked Mrs. Weinzwieg and Mrs. Ray for their enlightening discussion and the members closed with the theme hymn and prayer.

Rockets, Cubs Fight To Tie To End Season

Memo to Rocket mentor Frank Johnston and bossman Andy Closs of Aurora "Cubs": "If that's a sample of junior C hockey for '52, let's dispense with summer and get on with more right away."

Newmarket Rockets and Aurora C Bear Cubs battled to a four all tie in Aurora arena Thursday in a preview of '52. If any unbriefed characters had dropped in from the hinterlands, they'd have gained the impression the championship of North York was on the line. Neither team spared the horses and galloped about at a mile a minute clip.

The usual Newmarket-Aurora rivalry merited 14 penalties, four majors, 10 minors. Majors were doled out to Hal Phillips of the Cubs and Bill Smith of the Rockets for scrapping. Both were buddies a scant six weeks ago with Hack Cain's juniors. The other set-to was strictly a gloves off, into it hot and heavy betwixt Bob Hanna, Rockets' up and coming defender, and Ed Williams, rough and tumble blue-line basher.

That was the boom-boom part of the show. Now for a gander at the scoring. It was 1 all as the sweepers came out for their first turn of duty—Joe Sarkisian, a Closs find, with Grant Winters the feeder, and Murray McDonald back on his lonesome to tie it. The second was scoreless.

The goal-production stepped up in the finale. Rockets legged into a 3-1 lead early in the final round as Bob Shropshire set Keith Collings on his way. Bob Veale followed with a lone safari. At the midway mark, Walt Fines started off what proved to be a three-goal run for the Cubs. Geo. Barber, a wee broth of a lad, and his bigger brother, Artie, shooting unassisted goals by Joe Burke in the Rocket cage to hoist Aurora ahead 4-3. Rockets raced the hands of the clock and at 18:40 Keith Collings collected his second goal of the night, skirting the Aurora rear-guard to trigger a back-hander that found the top corner for the equalizer.

That's how it ended, 4 all, the two tired teams voting against overtime.

Here's a North York championship hockey team—the Aurora Ladies. Two straight losses, then three wins, the fifth and decider a 4-1 triumph over Keswick, brought the North York honours and the Purdy-Henry trophy to Aurora. TOWN LEAGUE SOFTBALL

Are the Town League softball teams ready? Here we go for another season. League secretary Harold LaPlante fires the following broadside: meeting next Wednesday, April 18. Remember Hoffman, Davis, Specialty, Town, Bell and Optimists.

AURORA HIGH NEWS

We may not be the slightest bit superstitious but when our Easter exams begin on Friday the 13th it does not cause us to get up and cheer. The whole school starts writing then and our school social and sports activities have been cut to a minimum these past weeks.

The girls have been playing badminton and a tournament is being planned. (All that the boys are doing is bickering about the outcome of the Stanley Cup play-offs.)

The school band is having its spring tune-up and it is a marvellous band this year. The last few weeks have not been so good for those of us who come to school half asleep, as sharp at 8:30 the band begins to practice. The mixed glee club is singing in the Peel County Festival in Port Credit on April 20.

We are now beginning to take cadets in earnest and the date for the cadet dance is May 11. But this is no time to think of such pleasure as we must be back at the grind of studying for those delightful exams.

HASH

BY GEORGE HASKETT
Newmarket Sports Editor

The snow has gone and the rink closed Saturday. Ball diamonds are drying up and there are umpteen dozen young nippers out with bat and ball. Spring is here!

Zephyr is definitely out to hold the Lake Simcoe crown reports Morley Bain. Keswick softballers have lapped the field, organization meeting over and done with, uniforms ordered, Art King president, Bill Stanyer coach and Percy Richmond back for repeat as manager. Rumor has it that Holland Landing will come into the Simcoe circuit this year. Better get the ball rolling, Mr. Chapman.

Bradford is definitely in the hunt for the intermediate C O.L.A. lacrosse title. Jim Webb was elected president, both coach Jim Mulliss and manager Nick Burnside are back at the helm. Newmarket's talk of lacrosse has simmered low. One reason it seems is the lights at the arena must be screened. That's a job that will have to be done sooner or later—why not now. Weren't five smashed during the hockey campaign? That alone would be reason enough to do a screening job.

Proper place to start a comeback for Hub in lacrosse, we're told, is with the kids. That's probably right. Such being the case, we have three chaps offering their services as coaches for minor teams, Bob Benville, Bell Bradley and Harold Gwyn.

Rink manager Stan Smith reports Canadian Ice people figure ice should disappear in a couple of weeks. Arena commission shortly to consider summer activities. Roller skating, weekly dances, wrestling and boxing are being talked up as summer revenue producers. Following out the community centre idea greatest possible use of the arena should be made, how about basketball, floor hockey and indoor soccer?

More on the shiny side: Two or three hockey hold-outs. King-Vaughan league finals still with us. Kleinburg prolonged the series by holding Elgin Hasting's Schombergers to ten all score Friday. They'll try to settle it Friday. Aurora town league has unfinished business, one game in the best of five series played. Cliff Chapman and his minute-men are doing their damndest to finish up at grass-cutting time. Other important hockey tussle is Aurora minor league championships due April 20.

Rural high-jinks: "Butch" Boyd, Bradford's manager, asks why not organize an intermediate B division to the Trolley League, Bradford, Alliston, Sutton and Beeton. Time to do it is now. Both Sutton and Bradford were more than a little peeved at the treatment accorded them in the O.R.I.A. this season. Protests flew so thick and fast both fans and press were bewildered.

Ellis Pringle's Greenshirts took the unkindest cut of all. They protested Haliburton bringing in a replacement goalie via a doctor's certificate, while Haliburton's regular netminder donned the pads for pre-game work-out. Sutton got two home games, Haliburton four. How the O.R.I.A. figured that one out, and then threw out the Sutton protest, we'll never know.

How They're Winding Up Season

Nobleton Juniors bowed out of the O.H.A. junior D race on Tuesday night at Nobleton to Dane Found's hard-battling Ororo Juniors in the third of a best of three series. Nobleton won the first game in Oshawa with ease, dropped the return game 2-1 at home and in the final game Ororo won 9-4 and it might have been more.

This is the second straight series the Ororo boys have come from behind to win, and done it with surprising shifts of players and last minute changes. In the final game they played a forward in goal and he did a great job. Of course, if your teammates can keep control of the puck and will check like fiends, the net-minding chore is not as tough as it might otherwise be, and Ororo did just that. They play Hespeler now and on the dope Hespeler should win the championship but you can't count Ororo out until the last bell. Ron Attwell was a tower of strength to Nobleton in the series. Terry, Wallace, Weedon, Ash, Holder and the rest of the lads played their hearts out and have no reason to feel ashamed of their efforts. They'll look good another year but some of the boys will doubtless want to play with Aurora or elsewhere. "Twas always thus."

On the championship trail, Brantford awaits the winner of the Markham-Kingston series, all knotted as we write, to decide senior B. Collingwood Shipbuilders, fresh from a win over Canamque, are finalists in intermediate A against either Fort Erie or Simcoe. Gravenhurst looks to have the intermediate B championship coming its way. Weston Dukes are meeting Kingston for title to play either Sarnia or Kitchener for the junior B crown, while Collingwood, after a terrific struggle with Port Hope Panthers, looks to have the C championship once more.

Eddie Bush, who coaches the Collingwood team, may set some kind of a record as he stands a good chance to annex two championships in his first year as a coach. Alliston and Hurlbert are struggling for the right to play Breslau which eliminated Highland Creek for the rural A honors. Cambridge, from Victoria county, featuring the three Trent brothers, formerly of Aurora, Perhaps an Apps, a Richard, a Howe, a Kennedy or a Broda will come out of this team, who knows? You're looking at our youngest hockey champions. The Marlboros, Squirt School League champions, ages eight and nine. The school league operated eight teams with over 100 players over the past winter. Back row, l. to r., Paul Forhan, Brian Bates, Bill McComb, Doug Campbell (coach), Vernon Abbott, Bruce Hillaby, Ernest Tilt; front row, l. to r., John Hodge, Paul Blair, Bjorn Peterson, Barton Sedore, Jackie Cullen. Aurora Girls Hockey Team Wins North York Trophy

The Aurora Ladies' Hockey team won the North York Ladies' Hockey League title and the Purdy-Henry trophy, offered for competition for the first time this year.

The gals are worthy champs. They dropped the first two games in a best of five set and won the next three. The fifth game was played Thursday in Aurora arena. Aurora nabbed a two-goal first period lead and went on to carve out a 4-1 win over Keswick.

Barbara Rose and Irene Mashinter started Aurora on the way with first period goals. Velma Sutton popped in a second round tally and Betty Holman skooted the length of ice early in the third to make it 4-0. Kay Peters, a fast skating, stick-handling gal, got Keswick's goal with less than five minutes to go.

The gals lived up to the third period with a bit of "out of the rule book" biff and boff. Joanne Beazer and Betty York were handed a dust mop by referees Harold McMain and Gordie Clark and ordered to dust out the sin bin for five minutes. They called it fighting, imagine!

The North York Ladies' League opened early in January with three teams, Sutton, Keswick and Aurora. The gals have been giving the fans a steady diet of hockey since and it's getting better all the time.

Aurora: Lucille Phillips, Gwen Myke, Lucille Case, Barb Rose, dna Marinoff, Velma Sutton, Joanne Beazer, Irene Mashinter, Irene Morrison, Betty Holman, Edna Anderson, Arlene Atkinson, Maxine Storie.

Keswick: Ev Young, Ruth York, Betty York, Kay Peters, Nancy Daley, Ruth Peters, Lyla Clark, Helen Porter, Lorraine Dolan, Bev Heaton, Shirley Riddell, Grace Peters, Joan Stiles, Charlotte Werden.

Reg Wilson, second vice pres., B. Collings; sec-treas, Fred W. Collings; executive, Chas. Evans; Reeve F. A. Allan, W. F. Compton, A. Spence, Norm "Dodger" Collings, Wm. Fuller and S. S. McKenzie. Nick Burnside was returned as manager and Bill Mulliss as coach for a second term.

Another banner year and strong showing in the intermediate ranks is expected for this year's edition of the Celery Kings. Practically all of last year's team is available for duty and prospects point to several new recruits having an opportunity to display their talents.

boys should win the honors. It'll be the first time a player from the district has ever played on a U.S.A. championship team. Ice holds in Aurora arena until the end of April as T.H.L. demands provide some extra needed revenue. Tom Dickson announces the parking lot will be considered and rolled as soon as possible. No news yet about a floor for the arena.

In memory of the late Tommy Cain and Ronnie Randall, who played with Collingwood juniors last winter, a handsome memorial trophy has been presented to the winners of the Collingwood midweek hockey league. A fine gesture indeed. Keith Kewley, coach of Ayr Raiders of the Scottish hockey league, will arrive in Toronto by plane next week to secure some new recruits for his club and some of the other Scottish teams. Keith needs players of senior B, intermediate A or junior A or B experience and if any of you who read this are interested, write to Keith at 38 Ulster St., Toronto.

Schomberg Held To Tie By Battling Kleinburg

Schomberg held by Kleinburg to a ten-all draw in the King-Vaughan finals. Previously Schomberg had whopped Kleinburg for a two-game lead in the best of five set. Another win was needed Friday to sock the series in the Schomberg kitty.

At one stage, the middle of the second, Schomberg looked so far ahead they appeared sure shoos. They led 7-1. The Kleins came back to whittle the lead to 7-4. Schomberg still figured there was nothing to write their M.P. about, but that was a mistake. Kleinburg's hustling young lads got rolling down through the third. At 19:01 they scooped in the tying goal—and it was then too late for Elgin Hastings's men to do much about it.

Both teams knocked on the door with a couple of good chances in the overtime session but nobody opened the door for a tally.

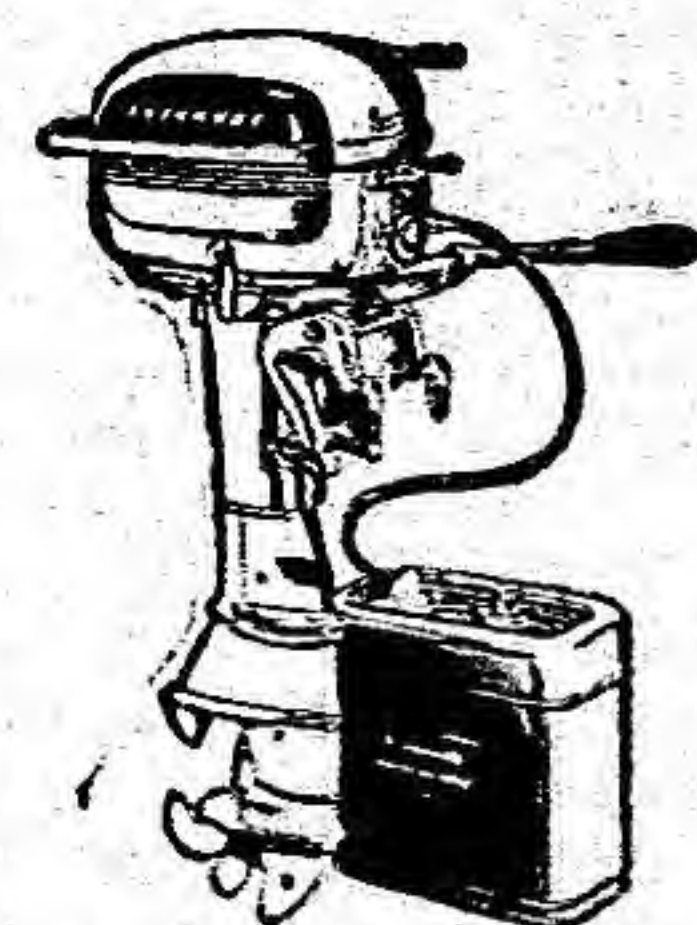

The scoring swag was high, both goalies doing a lot of rubber fishing. Eddie Michnak, Schomberg's jet-propelled centremen, pegged four, two goal-men were Army Carrey and Howard Archibald. In the single goal bracket came Trevor Graham and Hank Hollingshead. Don Marchant cut a good slice of assist pie with three.

Four did a good business for Kleinburg with two each, Walt Bell, Harry Lostchuk, Alb Lostchuk and Alex. Shaw.
